INTRODUCTION

The ANNUAL REPORT ON DENTAL EDUCATION, 1993/94 is a summary of the information contained in the twenty-seventh annual Survey of Predoctoral Dental Educational Institutions. The questionnaire, mailed to all dental schools in July 1993, represents the collective action of the American Dental Association and the American Association of Dental Schools.

The 1993/94 survey employed a four group questionnaire:

GROUP I	General Information
GROUP II	Students
GROUP III	Financial Management
GROUP IV	Curriculum

Also included in this annual report is faculty information compiled from data obtained from the American Association of Dental School's Survey of Dental Educators; 1993/94.

The information included in the ANNUAL REPORT ON DENTAL EDUCATION is divided into seven sections: dental schools, academic programs and admissions, enrollment, graduates, student educational expenses, dental school programs, and faculty positions. Besides this report, there are two other annual reports on dental education, namely, advanced dental education and allied dental education. In addition, supplements are available which report information from the survey that is not included in this report.

DENTAL SCHOOLS

TABLE 4 lists the institutional names, names of deans, and addresses for the 54 dental schools in the United States and the 10 dental schools in Canada.

ACADEMIC PROGRAMS AND ADMISSIONS

TABLE 5 provides a description of the academic programs of the dental schools in the United States and Canada. Data in the table provides information on the type and length of the term at each dental school, the minimum and maximum length of the academic year and the total length of the program expressed in numbers of weeks required. A description of the type of academic program at each dental school is also included. For the academic year 1993-94, there are 52 dental schools in the United States that have a four academic year-four calender year (4-4) program, while one school, the University of the Pacific, has a four academic year-three calender year (4-3) program, and another, the Harvard School of Dental Medicine, has a five academic year-five calender year (5-5) program.

Eighteen dental schools award a D.M.D., and 36 grant a D.D.S. degree. The source of support for each school is also listed in Table 5, according to one of the three following classifications: public, private, and private-state related. Of the 54 dental schools in the United States, 35 dental schools are classified as public, 13 as private and 6 as private-state related.

TABLE 6 reports the admission policies for transfer students and foreign dental graduates in dental schools in the United States and Canada. Seven percent (4) of the dental schools in the United States will not allow transfer students to enter their programs at any level other than first-year standing. Fifty-six percent (30) of the dental schools in the United States will allow these students to enter with first-year standing. There are 38 (70%) dental schools which will allow these students to enter with second year standing. Twenty-seven (50%) schools will allow transfer students to begin with third year standing, while only seven (13%) dental schools will allow these students to enter with fourth year standing.

For foreign dental graduates, 43% (23) of the dental schools in the United States will allow these students to enter with first-year standing, and 45% (24) with second year standing. Twenty-six percent (14) of the schools will allow foreign dental graduates to begin with third year standing, whereas none of the dental schools will allow these graduates to enter with fourth year standing.

ENROLLMENT

TABLE 7 reports the level of education achieved by dental students prior to enrollment in dental school. Of the 4,100 first-year dental students enrolled in the United States dental schools for 1993-94, 59 had completed two years of predental education; 491 had three years of predental education; and 571 had completed four years without receiving a bachelor's degree. Of the remaining 2,979 students, 2,793 entered with a bachelor's degree and 94 had a master's or Ph.D. degree.

A comparison of the 1992-93 and 1993-94 first-year classes shows that the percentage of students accepted with two years of predental education has decreased from 1.8% to 1.4%. The percentage of students with an advanced degree increased from 3.8% in 1992-93 to 4.6% in 1993-94. During the 1993-94 year, 12.0% (491 students) had three years of predental education compared with 14.5% (590 students) last year; 13.9% (571 students) had four years without a degree, compared with 14.9% (606 students) last year; and the percentage of those with a baccalaureate degree increased to 68.1% (2,793) from 65.0% (2,646). A comparison in the level of predental education of first-year dental students between 1989 and 1993 has been illustrated in Figure 1.

Total and first-year enrollments as well as graduates from U.S. dental schools have been illustrated in Figures 2-4. Total enrollment in dental schools had increased steadily each year up to 1981-82 with the greatest increase occurring between 1977-78 and 1978-79, when enrollment went up by 3.1%. This year, for the second time since 1981-82, total enrollment in dental schools has increased from 15,980 in 1992-93 to 16,250 in 1993-94. The 1993-94 first-year enrollment of 4,100 is the fourth straight year in which the number of first-year students increased. In addition, for the third straight year, first-year enrollment is greater than the number of graduates.

TABLE 8 shows the enrollment distribution of the predoctoral dental students classified by school, class and sex. The 1993 first-year class in U.S. dental schools of 4,100 students represents a 0.69% increase from last year's enrollment of 4,072 and a 34.9% decrease from the first-year enrollment in 1978--the last year until 1990 that the number of first-year students increased.

An analysis of the enrollment information on women dental students indicates that the number continues to rise gradually. The percentage of women this year was 36.9%, while the percentage last year was 36.3%.

TABLE 2 compares the number of women enrolled with the total number of students enrolled for 1993-94. The percentage of first-year women enrolled for 1993-94 increased from that of 1992-93, from 35.2% in 1992 to 36.7% in 1993.

TABLE 9 and 10 show the geographic distribution of dental students in the United States and Canada. Table 9 indicates the distribution of the first-year students, and Table 10 shows the distribution of all predoctoral students regarding residency by state.

TABLE 11 shows the first-year, minority enrollment in dental schools in the United States for 1993-94. The percentage of Black, first-year students decreased from 6.8% (277 students) in 1992-93 to 6.5% (265 students) in 1993-94. The percentage of Hispanic students has increased from 5.1% (209 students) to 5.3% (218 students). The percentage of Native American students has remained the same during the last two years, 0.4% (16 students). The percentage of Asian students has increased from 18.0% (732 students) in 1992 to 20.0% (822 students) in 1993.

TABLE 12 presents the first-year enrollment in dental schools in the United States and Canada from 1989 to 1993. For United States schools, the peak first-year enrollment of 6,301 was reached in 1978. There had been an average decrease in enrollment of 4.1% per year between 1978 and 1989. This is the fourth year since 1978 where first year enrollment has increased. In addition, Table 12, reports for 1990-91, 1991-92, 1992-93, and 1993-94 the number of repeating students reported by each dental school.

GRADUATES

TABLE 13 reports the number of dental school graduates by ethnic classification and gender during 1993. There were 3,778 graduates from United States dental schools, a decrease of 3.6% from last year's total of 3,918 graduates.

STUDENT EDUCATIONAL EXPENSES

TABLE 14 lists the first-year tuition costs, general fees and other educational expenses paid by dental students in support of their education. The "other" educational expenses, broken down by class year, include instruments, supplies, textbooks, and all other fixed fees, exclusive of tuition, living and health service costs. The average first-year tuition costs incurred by state residents in all dental schools in the United States amounted to $11,304; the average general fee costs for these schools is $656, making the average total tuition and general fees for 1993-94 first-year students $11,960. This is a 5.6% increase from last year's average. The out-of-state residents paid an average tuition of $17,098. Adding the average general fees of $656, the total tuition plus fees costs are $17,754, an increase of 6.0% over last year.

TABLE 15 reports the amount of financial assistance awarded in 1992-93 by dental schools in the United States.

TABLE 16 reports the number of patient visits and the number of patients screened at dental schools in the United States and Canada. For dental schools in the United States, the mean number of patient visits at both on-campus clinics and extramural facilities is approximately 64,307 while the mean reported number of patients screened is approximately 6,289.

TABLE 17 lists the accredited advanced dental education programs available at each dental school. There are 339 accredited advanced education programs sponsored by 54 dental schools in the United States: 38 endodontics programs, 11 oral pathology programs, 42 programs in oral and maxillofacial surgery, 46 in orthodontics, 37 in pediatric dentistry, 43 in periodontics, 44 in prosthodontics, 7 in dental public health, 28 accredited general practice residency programs, 40 general dentistry programs and 2 combined specialty programs. Accrecitation standards in prosthodontics and the two general dentistry disciplines allow an institution to sponsor multiple programs. Table 17 identifies these institutional sponsors.

FACULTY POSITIONS

TABLE 18 provides information on faculty positions according to dental school and department. This information was collected through the American Association of Dental School's Survey of Dental Educators, 1993-94.

Full-time and part-time biomedical faculty statistics have been reported in Table 18 for dental schools where the biomedical faculty are within the purview of the school of dentistry. A total of 3,330 full-time and 5,975 part-time faculty members currently teach in dental school clinical departments. A full-time equivalent is defined as a faculty member who is present for teaching, administrative and research responsibilities on a full-time basis, as determined by the dental school. In reporting part-time faculty members, each school listed positions in terms of their full-time equivalence (FTE). For instance, two half-time instructors would be equivalent to one full-time instructor; the FTE of each would be 0.5, and their combined FTE would therefore be 1.0 (one full-time instructor).

DENTAL EDUCATIONAL REPORTS PUBLISHED BY THE SURVEY CENTER DEPARTMENT

The Survey Center Department of the American Dental Association publishes the Annual Report on Dental Education and supplemental reports on various aspects of predoctoral dental education yearly. These reports have been listed below according estimated publication dates. It should be noted that the "Confidential" reports include information which was collected by the Department with the understanding that the resultant reports would not identify specific educational institutions. In this regard, these reports use randomly assigned code numbers for each predoctoral program rather than the name of the institution. The initial distribution of these reports is limited to dental deans.
